

April 19,2005

Dear Lillian,

Thanks for the pictures you look pretty snappy in the red hat. I am glad to hear you are feeling better. I know it takes time to heal I am still healing and slowly getting back to my old self again.

I have been taking iron pills every day for the past year. One of the side effects of the chemo is low red blood count and that could lead to possible infections among other things. I have another year to go and then another cat scan to see if the problem cleared up.

I took Jackie to the Dr. this morning, her blood pressure is out of control. This morning it was 164 over 68 and her pulse was 44. The Dr. changed her medication to try lowering the top and bringing the pulse up to 60. She has another appt. in two weeks.

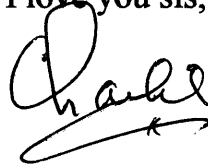

I enjoyed reading Dave's email, it makes me think of the time I was in the Army. I had some very good ~~times~~ then, at least they out numbered the bad times.

Does Bob go with you to the red hat meetings? That is about it for now,I will sign off until next time.

Regards to you and Bob from Jackie and me.

1/2/05/02/05

I love you sis,

A handwritten signature in black ink, appearing to read "Jackie", with a long horizontal flourish underneath.